

Rehabilitation of the Atrophic Posterior Maxilla Using Short Implants or Sinus Augmentation with Simultaneous Standard-Length Implant Placement: A 3-Year Randomized Clinical Trial

Retraction: The following article from Clinical Implant Dentistry and Related Research, “Rehabilitation of the Atrophic Posterior Maxilla Using Short Implants or Sinus Augmentation with Simultaneous Standard-Length Implant Placement: A 3-Year Randomized Clinical Trial”, by Francesco Pieri, Nicolò Nicoli Aldini, Milena Fini, Claudio Marchetti & Giuseppe Corinaldesi, published online on 15 March 2012 in Wiley Online Library (www.onlinelibrary.wiley.com), has been retracted by agreement between the journal Editors-in-Chief, William Becker and Lars Sennerby, and Wiley Periodicals, Inc. The retraction has been agreed due to the failure by the authors to respond to inquiries from the Editors-in-Chief regarding the provenance of the Astra implants prior to their release; approval of the study protocol; where the implants were placed; and the names and location of the patients who received the above implants.
