

Thanks to our translators

The International Journal of Paediatric Dentistry remains one of few English-language journals that offers abstracts of every scientific article it publishes in Spanish, German and French.

This represents a major service to our readers. The results of the readership survey have shown that many people value and appreciate it. Providing translated abstracts represents the result of consistent and regular hard work by our translators. All are volunteers and each translates more than 60 abstracts per year every year. IJPD editors as well as readers of the journal are extremely grateful to Drs Martin Koch, Jean-Louis Sixou, Juan Ramon Boj and Enric Espasa for their regular and sustained contribution to IJPD over the years.
